

Lecture Series of the Department of Development Studies

Firat Demir

(University of Oklahoma)

Omar S. Dahi

(Hampshire College, University of Massachusetts Amherst)

Multipolarity and the new South-South Relations

Hybrid Format

participants can join via Zoom using this link or the link on our website.

Thursday, November 24th, 2022 5.00-7.00 pm

Sensengasse 3, Seminar Room SG 1, 1090 Wien

Chair: Petra Dannecker

The past three decades has witnessed the rise of the "new South-South relations" which includes increasing and overlapping economic-financial, political-diplomatic, security-military ties between developing countries. In the post WW era, South-South relations were considered a positive alternative to North-South unequal relations. This panel will explore the ambiguous impact of these ties from the perspective of human development and social justice in the global South.

KnowWar II

